

IT IS SURPRISING! In fact, it is amazing the number of books that continue to be published on the subject of self esteem. People are still struggling with a poor self image, and it's obviously the challenge of each new generation. The solution has yet to be grasped by parents, so children and children's children, are continuing the search. Is it our knowledge and scholarship, or our teachableness which is the barrier? When trust is breached early in life the bad self image appears to start growing. Where people know they are important, loved, and valued, whatever their age, confidence and a strong self-image walk with them. See yourself as God sees you, someone whom He loves to spend time with, in a relationship which He values. When we realize we are of extreme importance to God, that He loves and values us, that's where a good self image begins! It's all about Jesus, and his resurrection life.
